MA'OT CHITIN IS AS IMPORTANT AS RIDDING OURSELVES OF HAMETZ!

BY RABBI FELIPE GOODMAN

The central idea of Passover is of course the liberation of the Jewish People from bondage in Egypt. Understanding that the main theme of the holy Day, is the idea of freedom and self-determination, is one of the time-honored traditions that is passed from generation to generation. However, there are other important themes that are part of Passover, and we must try to make them part of our celebration, even if it is not intuitive. Passover serves as a reminder of the struggles and hardships that the Israelites endured during their enslavement in Egypt, as well as their eventual freedom and redemption. The fact that we sit down to a Seder, where we experience the abundance of our times, the regenerative spirit of family reunions, and storytelling, is a reminder that we have not always had the luxury of doing things with freedom and in plenty.

During the Seder meal, when our families gather to retell the story of the Exodus from Egypt, using the Haggadah, we make sure to highlight the importance of understanding history, being aware of history's cyclical nature. The symbolic foods that we eat, such as matzah, bitter herbs, and wine are also meant to take us through the roller coaster of Jewish history using all of our sensorial perceptions. Passover is a holy day where we taste and touch history, not only talk about it.

In addition to the rituals and customs associated with the Seder, Passover also has a strong focus on social justice and charity. One of the key commandments associated with the holiday is to feed the poor and the needy. In fact, there is a specific mitzvah to give food to those who cannot afford it during the holy day.

This mitzvah is known as Ma'ot Chitin, which literally means "wheat money." The idea behind ma'ot chitin is to ensure that everyone has enough food to celebrate Passover, regardless of their financial situation. The practice of giving wheat or other food items to those in need dates back to ancient times, and it continues to be an important part of Passover observance today.

There are many different ways to fulfill the mitzvah of ma'ot chitin. Some families choose to donate money or food to local food banks or charities. Others might invite guests who cannot afford to celebrate the holiday on their own, so everyone has a place at the Seder table. Still, others might participate in community-wide efforts to collect and distribute food to those in need. Here at TBS we have an opportunity to fulfill this Mitzvah when we sell our Hametz by donating specifically for ma'ot chitin. One of our food drives, coincides with Pesach, to help replenish the food bank at the Jewish Family Service Agency. You can bring to The Temple food that you will not consume during Pesach and we will take it over to JFSA for distribution.

No matter how it is done, the mitzvah of ma'ot chitin is an important reminder of the values and principles that are central to Passover. It is a time to reflect on the struggles and hardships that our ancestors faced during their enslavement in Egypt, and to remember that freedom and justice are not just abstract concepts, but fundamental rights that all people deserve.

Passover is a holiday that has deep meaning and significance for the Jewish community. It is a time to celebrate freedom and liberation and to reflect on the values and principles that are central to Jewish tradition.

One of these values is the importance of feeding the poor and the needy. By giving to those in need, we can help ensure that everyone has the opportunity to celebrate Passover and enjoy the freedom and joy that it represents.

Wishing you a Pesach Kasher V'Sameach

OPERATION SOLOMON: BORNE ON WINGS OF EAGLES

BY ASSISTANT RABBI
JONATHAN HODSON

Racheli Tadesa Malkai was only 8 years old when her parents woke her up in the middle of the night and told her it was time to leave their tiny village in Ethiopia. While she was too young to understand where they were going, she knew by the panicked look in her parent's eyes that they had to get out fast. So her family took her, and what little possessions they had, in the middle of the night and they began a treacherous journey to an airstrip in the region's capital city, Addis Ababa. You see, in 1991 things in the Ethiopian Jewish community had become very dangerous. The Government itself was on the brink of collapse and was constantly challenged by various rebel groups who threatened to take over. With these threats came an increase in antisemitism, mainly targeted at Ethiopian Jews living in the Gondar Highlands.

These Jews, who claimed to be descendants of King Solomon lived simple, but harsh lives in Ethiopia; and were now under constant harassment, and attack from other locals.

So with the help of the Israeli government, covert plans were made to air-lift over 14,000 Ethiopian Jews and fly them to Israel, in less than 36 hours. This project would later be known as "Operation Solomon." When Racheli finally arrived at the airstrip, she stood in line with thousands of other Jews, many of whom had never seen a plane before, and some who didn't know what a plane was. Racheli is quoted as saying: "When I got on the plane, I felt like I was getting into a big bird. A shiny black plastic sheet was spread out on the floor. There were no seats. They had been taken out so that there would be as much room as possible for people. I sat close to the window because I wanted to see what was happening. I remember my concerns. I said to my mother, 'Are we really going into the sky with this bird?' I had never seen planes before. She held me in her arms, and quoted the Torah from when the Jews left Egypt: "I bore you on wings of Eagles, and brought you to Me."

This verse, which is mentioned in the book of Exodus, in Parashat Yitro--has long since been a topic of conversation within our tradition. This line is uttered by God, moments before our people receive the 10 commandments at Mount Sinai. However, what God means by this verse, is unclear. Now obviously, God is attempting to make a metaphor here or trying to employ some sort of imagery because we know that the Israelites weren't flown out of Egypt on the wings of Eagles—they walked on land and then walked through a parted Red Sea. So, what does "on wings of eagles" actually mean?

Well, allow me to present you with an idea: When I was a kid growing up in Central Texas, my seventh-grade class went on a field trip to Lake Buchanan—because during the wintertime, the towering cliffs of this lake become a nesting spot for the American bald Eagle. I remember the tour guide on the cruise boat told us an interesting fact about the eagles that has stuck with me all these years. He told us that bald eagles prefer to build their nests on the cliff-side of the lake to prevent their young from being exposed to potential predators. Doing this, ensures that most other predatory bird species can't access the nest, however, the eaglets are at a greater risk of drowning, or injuring themselves along the cliffside, should they fall out of the nest prematurely.

Therefore, the only proper way to train the eaglets to fly safely is by essentially kicking them out of the nest and letting them flap their way down while the mother or father eagle flies beneath them, essentially acting as their safety net.

Dear friends, perhaps the reason why this idea has stuck with me for so many years, is because I think this is what God meant when God said "I bore you on wings of Eagles." God is telling the Israelite people, that while they might have felt like they were falling down—or crashing toward their oblivion, God was in fact, right there with them—holding them up, securing them, delivering them to safety. Likewise, it's my firm belief, that God was also with the Ethiopian community as well on that terrifying and stressful day when they boarded a plane and flew into the unknown. God was with them then, much like God is with us right now.

May we continue to pray that God acts as our Creator, our safety net, and our eagle.

Fellow Temple Beth Sholom Members, it has been a few months since my last article. I hope the winter so far has treated you well. In November, we had the Six13 Group Concert which was a fantastic event. We achieved our fundraising goals. Sincerest thank you to Terri Weisbord, Kim Nemar, Nicole Lamb, and the event committee for their tremendous efforts. A special shout out to D.J. Sinai for promoting the idea and fostering it to completion. We were gifted with an encore performance of the group with a surprise guest performance by our own D.J.! It was beautiful the way D.J. blended right in with the other members of the acapella group.

Recently, Rabbi Hodson was approached with an opportunity to become Head Rabbi of a congregation in San Antonio, Texas. Rabbi Hodson has informed us that he intends to take that position. During his tenure at TBS, he has been a dedicated and valued member of the clergy and the school, assisting in the increase in enrollment. Rabbi Hodson was very clear that he was extremely happy and satisfied with his time in Las Vegas, and that the decision to move was based on proximity to their families and the chance to lead his own congregation. Please help me to wish Rabbi Hodson and his family great success and happiness in his journey.

Congratulations to the Purim Carnival Committee and DJ for running an excellent program. There was food, activities, and entertainment for all to enjoy. Special thank you to Ken Heck and the Men's Club for volunteering to help wherever needed.

Regarding the status of Temple Beth Sholom, Membership levels are increasing. Youth Group and Religious School enrollment are at historic highs. D.J. and Rabbi Hodson have done an exceptional job creating interest and excitement in both programs. The Temple Board is looking for ways to encourage new membership enrollment and need your help. Please feel free to contact me with ideas to accomplish this feat.

Very truly,

Bill Mason

BY CLAYTON STEINBERG
DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS

DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS REPORT

As I reflect on my first year as the Director of Operations at Temple Beth Sholom in Las Vegas, one word comes to mind: whew! It turns out that running a synagogue is a bit like performing a high-wire act, blindfolded, in a hurricane. Despite the occasional mishap (let's just say that portable air conditioners during the High Holidays was not my finest moment), I am grateful to be part of this wonderful community and to have the opportunity to serve alongside such dedicated and passionate individuals.

I am pleased to report that we have completed the installation of a new cooling tower system in our facility. This upgrade will provide a more efficient and effective cooling system for our congregation, especially during the hot summer months in Las Vegas. We have also replaced the air conditioning unit in the large social hall. These investments will also help to reduce our energy costs, which will result in long-term cost savings for our synagogue.

In addition to the cooling tower and air conditioning unit, we have also installed new security bollards around our property. These bollards are designed to provide additional security measures to help protect our members, children, visitors, and staff. We believe that this investment in our security infrastructure is an important step in ensuring the safety and well-being of our community.

Another significant development that has taken place in our synagogue is the integration of a new accounting system called Shulcloud. This system will provide us with better financial management capabilities, allowing us to track our expenses and revenue more effectively. This new system will help us to better manage our finances, allocate our resources more efficiently, and ultimately provide a better service to our members.

In the future our website will be fully integrated allowing our members to securely log in and conduct their Temple business in a fast and frictionless manner.

One of my top priorities as Director of Operations is to ensure that Temple Beth Sholom provides the best possible catering and event management services to our congregants and guests. To that end, I am working closely with our talented culinary team to develop new menus and offerings that are both delicious and reflective of our community's diverse tastes and traditions. I am also exploring new partnerships and collaborations with local vendors, graphic designers, and event professionals to bring fresh ideas and expertise to our programming. My goal is to make Temple Beth Sholom the go-to destination for high-quality, memorable events and celebrations that honor our heritage and bring us together as a community.

As we move forward, we remain committed to investing in our synagogue and improving our facilities to ensure that we provide the best possible experience for our members. We have a number of exciting future capital projects which we are focusing on, including upgrades to our audio and visual equipment, parking lot resurfacing, and improvements to our outdoor spaces. We look forward to sharing more details about these projects with you as they progress.

In conclusion, I would like to thank you all for your continued support of our synagogue. I would also like to express my thanks and appreciation to the dedicated men and women of the operations team. With your help, we will continue to make Temple Beth Sholom a welcoming and vibrant place for our community.

THE JUDY & RONALD MACK SCHOOL FOR RELIGIOUS STUDIES

RABBI JONATHAN HODSON
RELIGIOUS SCHOOL DIRECTOR

This past February, the Judy and Ronald Mack Religious School at Temple Beth Sholom hosted our annual Shabbaton here on campus. The theme for the Shabbaton was Lego, hence the moniker “Everything is Awesome!”

Friday Night Ice-Cream Social

After students had a rousing time of singing songs and chanting prayers during our Ruach Ensemble Shabbat service, they were invited to the Multi-Purpose room to participate in a Lego themed ice-cream social. In addition to having a buffet of ice creams and toppings to choose from, kids could enjoy edible Lego waffles to go along with their frozen treats. We provided many pre-cut words and stickers with words on them, so that students could create Shabbat letters that would “build each other up.”

Services, Scavenger Hunts, and Olympics

Students participated in Lego themed services, which included reading from our custom-made, Lego themed scroll. After some lunch and free time, our children had the opportunity to search our campus for clues in our Riddler themed scavenger hunt. We concluded the day with various building activities, in which “Bricks 4 Kidz” led them through an assortment of building challenges.

All in all, I say can with much confidence, that Everything is Awesome at Temple Beth Sholom!

YOUTH

The youth department at Temple Beth Sholom got off to a very busy 2023 start! Open to all Jewish students in grades 4 - 12 in the Las Vegas Valley, our USY and Kadima groups continue to grow and have amazing opportunities with their friends. This year continues to break records and bring more smiles than ever before with 85 members at the present time.

Back in January, we celebrated the new year with a USY & Kadima event at Crystal Palace Skating Center. We had an awesome afternoon of skating, pizza, and fun! As you can see in the photos, the students had a whole lot of fun hanging out with each other and even making new friends.

USYers followed that event with a thrilling overnight Kinnus at Camp Ramah in Ojai, California. Nine participants traveled with Midbar Kodesh USY to join other chapters of our Far West Region for a weekend of growing, learning, and celebrating Shabbat in comfort with their friends! These weekends happen throughout the year for both USY and Kadima, and we have even been getting larger delegations for these shabbatons! It's so fun seeing the teens get involved in regional programming!

Then, at the beginning of February, nearly 20 Kadimanics came together for an exciting afternoon at SeaQuest Las Vegas, where the students received private animal encounters, got to feed exotic fish, hold a snake, and even hang out in a parakeet habitat! Needless to say, these students had an amazing time learning more about these unique animals, as well as the creatures at SeaQuest!

The following week USYers chose to throw a Super Bowl tailgate party at Defy Trampoline Park! This was a great way to get out all of their energy before the big game, and they sure did exactly that! From slides to an enormous jumping area, the teens had so much fun swinging, flipping, and jumping!

As you know, coming up is our only fundraiser of the year - the Community Wide Purim Carnival! Mark your calendars for Sunday, March 5 from 11 am - 3 pm, and bring your friends and neighbors as we party together with jump houses, obstacle courses, face painting, photo booths, a raffle (including items for adults and even a PS5!), hamburgers and hot dogs, and even circus acts! This event is open to the ENTIRE Las Vegas Valley and promises to be the best Carnival yet! The Purim Carnival hosted by Temple Beth Sholom's USY/Kadima youth groups is our only fundraiser of the year, and it's critical to helping us cover the costs associated with regional and international programming, as well as local events throughout the year - ensuring that no Jewish child in grades 4-12 is ever deprived of these experiences due to financial limitations. To make a donation to this cause, please visit www.bethsholomlv.org/purimcarnival.

Keep an eye out for our "Just In Time For Pesach" Food Drive, running from March 13 - April 3. All food items donated will benefit Jewish Family Service Agency. Items do not require a kosher hechsher and may be dropped off in the Temple lobby or with security.

As always, we have our USY Lounge Nights every Wednesday night in our high-tech Youth Lounge, and our USY/Kadima Shabbat Dinners every month. There is always room for more Jewish students in grades 4 - 12 in our youth programming! For more information, please email djsinai@bethsholomlv.org.

Leah is a 7th grader at Sig Rogich Middle school and has been attending TBS since Kindergarten for religious school. She is very excited about her upcoming Bat Mitzvah! Leah also loves participating in the Shabbat dinners at TBS and all the USY events. She is looking forward to continuing to help volunteer at religious school even after her Bat Mitzvah. Leah is very proud of her Jewish heritage and looks forward to attending Jewish summer camp at Camp JCA Shalom, where she has been going since she was eight years old. Leah is a great older sister to younger sister Lily.

Leah loves animals, especially dogs. This passion she has for dogs has led her to start a pet-sitting business where she and her sister offer staycations for dogs in their home. She loves taking the dogs to the park, bathing them, playing with them, and of course cuddling with them. She has quite a following and regular customers. You can find her and follow her and Lily's dog adventures @girlswithcurlsanddogswithpaws on Instagram!

For her mitzvah project, Leah has partnered with the ASPCA and the KEPPT pet food pantry. This organization stands for (Keeping Every Person and Pet Together). The program is designed to help keep pets to stay in their home and out of the shelter. It provides free pet food and supplies for owners who can't afford to feed their pets.
