ELUL, ROSH HASHANAH AND THE VOICE OF THE SHOFAR... DAILY REPETITION OR A UNIQUE AND POWERFUL EXPERIENCE EVERY DAY!?

BY RABBI FELIPE GOODMAN

Every year as soon as Elul arrives, and we start listening to the voice of The Shofar every morning I struggle with the same idea: How to make sure I don't become so accustomed to one of our daily rituals that I stop listening. How to make sure that repetition does not accomplish the opposite of what it was set to do? It is hard not to become accustomed to something that happens every day for a month...

That in itself is a very powerful and very important message of our tradition; and I believe, a universal truth at it. When things become so common that we don't notice them anymore we start taking everything for granted; the struggle, the day-to-day journey which should be such that even in what becomes a daily ritual we are able to find meaning and relevance. The voice of the shofar calls us to a daily return to God. It also calls us to change and to repair our existence. It does so not once a year, not one month a year but every single day. Elul is just a taste of what a daily process of introspection should look like to all of us. Perhaps, just perhaps the voice of the shofar is not a repetition but a unique, special, and transcendental occurrence every time we truly listen.

Rosh Hashanah is a time when we are traditionally poised to "return to God," but what does that really mean to us as modern Jews in the 21st Century? What does that return exactly look like? Rather than grandiose moments of discovery or what my daughter, Daniela would call "Life Altering Experiences," we need to concentrate on understanding what we have and what it means to return to the core of who we are. Our tradition makes it entirely about our relationship with God. It is also about our relationship with ourselves!

Judaism is a theocentric religion per excellence, hence the Mitzvot! Nonetheless, it is very much about Mitzvot that can only be performed in the context of our daily encounters with our own humanity and that of those around us. Every year, so many people ask me how to approach our prayers... "They simply don't speak to me!" People say all the time. I think we are approaching it the wrong way.

Prayers are the tools, the medium, the suggested beginning to a path. Prayers are supposed to awake us, shake us, and allow us to see that the world, our life, and everything around us should not be taken for granted. It is up to us to understand things with such a sense of daily renewal that ultimately, we feel like we are indeed managing to "return." Remember however that prayers, the shofar, are indeed a metaphor; nothing is literal. How we understand that metaphor is entirely up to us.

I would like to share with you something that always inspires me. It does not come from our liturgy, but I will be reading it in private this year right before I step on The Bimah of our Synagogue on the first night of Rosh Hashanah. It was written by Colombian Author and Nobel Prize of Literature winner Gabriel Garcia Marquez, author of 100 Years of Solitude, and one of Latin America's most acclaimed writers. It is a letter he wrote before he died, and it perfectly illustrates the tension that Rosh Hashanah should evoke within us.

It reminds us that the voice of the shofar is really NOT a repetition but a unique occurrence every time it calls. It reminds us that we can pray as much as we want but that prayer without action is indeed an empty exercise!

“If God, for a second, forgot what I have become and granted me a little bit more of life, I would use it to the best of my ability. I wouldn’t, possibly, say everything that is in my mind, but I would be more thoughtful of all I say. I would give merit to things not for what they are worth, but for what they mean to express. I would sleep little, I would dream more, because I know that for every minute that we close our eyes, we waste sixty seconds of light. I would walk while others stop; I would awake while others sleep. If God would give me a little bit more of life, I would dress in a simple manner, I would place myself in front of the sun, leaving not only my body, but my soul naked at its mercy. To all men I would say how mistaken they are when they think that they stop falling in love when they grow old, without knowing that they grow old when they stop falling in love. I would give wings to children, but I would leave it to them to learn how to fly by themselves. To old people I would say that death doesn’t arrive when they grow old, but with forgetfulness.

I have learned so much with you all, I have learned that everybody wants to live on top of the mountain, without knowing that true happiness is obtained in the journey taken and the form used to reach the top of the hill. I have learned that when a newborn baby holds, with its little hand, his father’s finger, it has trapped him for the rest of his life.

I have learned that a man has the right and obligation to look down at another man, only when that man needs help to get up from the ground. Say always what you feel, not what you think. If I knew that today is the last time that that I am going to see you asleep, I would hug you with all my strength and I would pray to the Lord to let me be the guardian angel of your soul. If I knew that these are the last moments to see you, I would say ‘I love you’.

There is always tomorrow, and life gives us another opportunity to do things right, but in case I am wrong, and today is all that is left to me, I would love to tell you how much I love you and that I will never forget you.

Tomorrow is never guaranteed to anyone, young or old. Today could be the last time to see your loved ones, which is why you mustn’t wait; do it today, in case tomorrow never arrives. I am sure you will be sorry you wasted the opportunity today to give a smile, a hug, a kiss, and that you were too busy to grant them their last wish.

Keep your loved ones near you; tell them in their ears and to their faces how much you need them and love them. Love them and treat them well; take your time to tell them ‘I am sorry’; ‘forgive me’; ‘please’ ‘thank you’, and all those loving words you know. Nobody will know you for your secret thought. Ask the Lord for wisdom and strength to express them. Show your friends and loved ones how important they are to you.

Send this letter to those you love. If you don’t do it today, tomorrow will be like yesterday, and if you never do it, it doesn’t matter, either the moment to do it is now.”

FROM THE PRESIDENT

BY BILL MASON

Greetings again fellow Temple Beth Sholom Members. I hope this summer, and its spectacular monsoons have treated you well. As we are entering into the High Holy Day part of our calendar, it is time for me to give you a quick recap as to the status of TBS. The new Board elected in May has met and established the budget and goals for 2022-2023. The TBS membership roster has grown to exceed 456 active family members. This is strong, but short of our overall goal. The Board and the Membership Committee will look to address our needs in the sector and re-invigorate our efforts to grow and exceed the 500-member mark.

Enrollment in the Religious School has exceeded 70 students, and it looks to be a wonderful year under the leadership of Rabbi Hodson. I will leave the details for the status of the Religious School for Rabbi Hodson's report; however, it is a welcome site to see enrollment increasing towards our pre-pandemic levels. Continuing the news on enrollment increases, enrollment in the Early Childhood Center is also strong. I believe we have already met our targeted number of students with more children enrolling each week. It is a great feeling to have the positive energy and excitement return to both of our young person educational programs. A big thank you and shout-out to all the team members who supported both programs, and work hard each day to keep the curriculum vibrant and exciting.

Staying with the positive news. TBS has a couple of major fundraising efforts underway along with tremendous news regarding the Temple's endowment.

Two major fundraising efforts underway are the re-dedication of select seats in the Temple Sanctuary. The Board has identified a number of sanctuary seats that are available for re-dedication. Please contact Clayton Steinberg in the Temple office for details and a seating map for your reference if you choose to be involved.

The second fundraising effort is the Six13 Group concert coming up in December. Advertisements and emails are being distributed so please look for these mailings to get specific information. And as always, feel free to contact the Temple office if you have any questions or wish to purchase tickets for the Six13 Group event.

My report is not complete without giving proper recognition and thanks to the Kronberg Family. Temple Beth Sholom and the Warsaw Memorial Garden have each received very generous donations to both of their endowments. The Kronberg Family has always been a bedrock supporter for the TBS Community, and their contributions to the endowments further show their commitment to our wellbeing. The continued growth of the Temple Beth Sholom restricted endowment is critical to the long-term sustainability of our congregation.

May the coming months treat you and yours well. I am looking forward to seeing everyone "in person" during the High Holy Days services.

Lehitra'ot,

Bill Mason
President
Temple Beth Sholom

WHEREVER YOU GO, THERE'S ALWAYS SOMEONE JEWISH?

BY ASSISTANT RABBI
JONATHAN HODSON

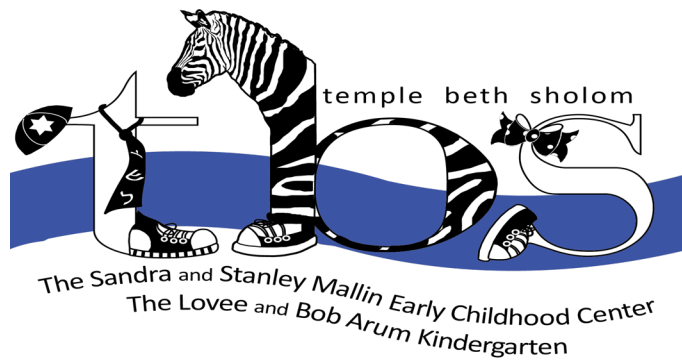

There's a song that we used to sing with the USY kids, that has a sweeping main chorus: "Wherever you go, there's always someone Jewish — you're never alone when you say you're a Jew!" The song's lyrics include ideas about Jews living in places like Amsterdam, Disneyland, and Tel Aviv. Supposedly, the idea the song is trying to convey is that there are really Jews all over the world, so one shouldn't feel left out or lonely. The problem with this idea is that it's, well... wrong.

When I was living in Austin Texas during the teacher recession of 2011, I was driving over and over through the countryside every day to get to work in the tiny town of Waelder. While there certainly weren't Jews in Waelder, at least the people there saw me — and knew that bearded men with Yarmulkes existed. The between towns of this journey, however, (some with populations of less than 100 people), seemed perplexed when I stopped at their tiny gas station to fill up. Once while buying a bottle of water in a store, the clerk asked me: "What are you supposed to be, some kind of Jew?"

Over the course of the next two months, we'll celebrate the High Holidays here at Temple Beth Sholom. Among the many stories we'll read and talk about, one of the most prolific characters is Abraham. Seeing as how he was the first Jew, he really was the exception to the song I mentioned above — because everywhere he went, he literally was the only Jew around. God tells him to "go for yourself" — essentially to travel to a new spot, initiate a new tradition and a new people.

Being the first of a people isn't always easy, and throughout his narrative — Abraham encounters personal problems along the way. He grows, is tested, is broken — and then grows some more. But throughout his journey, he remains faithful to his new God, and even to himself.

I wonder what it could mean for us to take this journey as well. Obviously, I'm not advocating that we all move to Israel and make a journey to Beer Sheba; but perhaps we could initiate new traditions of our own. Maybe during our prayers this year, we can think of new ways to interact with God, each other, and ourselves. Hey, wherever we go — there's always someone Jewish!

BACK TO SCHOOL!

The Sandra & Stanley Mallin Early Childhood Center is back in session! The school year began with one-on-one orientations for the students, teachers, and parents to meet each other, see the classroom and discuss what the school year will look like.

This orientation, before the official first day of class, is tremendously helpful to calm everyone's nerves and help make for an easier transition into the return to the classroom.

The first day of class on Wednesday, August 10th was filled with excitement and smiles! Everyone is overjoyed to be back and eager to create lifelong memories of learning and fun!

Tears & Cheers

Families of The Sandra & Stanley Mallin Early Childhood were welcomed on the first two days of the new school year with our annual Tears & Cheers lounge. While some parents are cheering that summer is over, others are having a hard time letting their little ones go for the very first time at school.

This event is a wonderful opportunity for new and returning parents to celebrate and/or comfort each other. The lounge was set up with coffee, pastries, and tissues, along with a heartfelt poem written by TBSECC Teacher, Mary Baxter-Jordan.

The administration was present to ease families while they experienced new milestones and growing pains. Many families stopped by, taking advantage of the opportunity to share their stories, connect with other families, and of course, wipe a joyous tear!

THE JUDY & RONALD MACK SCHOOL FOR RELIGIOUS STUDIES

RABBI JONATHAN HODSON
RELIGIOUS SCHOOL DIRECTOR

OPEN HOUSE OR FIRST DAY OF TBS RELIGIOUS SCHOOL? BOTH!

August 14th, 2022 was an important day for the TBS Religious School. Not only did we have our annual open house for parents and students to meet their teachers and explore their new classrooms, but we also celebrated our first day of classes. With 78 students currently enrolled in our program and more registering every week — we are confident that we have the largest Hebrew Sunday School in Las Vegas!

Beginning of the Day

Families met in the TBS Multipurpose room to enjoy coffee and bagels, while students met their new teachers. Parents, grandparents, and siblings schmoozed with one another, while our staff engaged with students to create new art projects. Afterward, families, students, and teachers explored the new classrooms and went over new protocols for the school year. Everyone reconvened in the Sanctuary for Religious School opening ceremonies.

People of the Book

This year, students will have an opportunity to weekly access the Sperling-Kronberg-Mack Holocaust resource center, located upstairs in the Early Childhood Center (ECC) building. Using this space as a “Beit Midrash” (study hall), students can choose from a variety of books to look at or read independently for 15 minutes every Sunday. At the Judy and Ronald Mack School for Religious Studies, we believe that students should have an active role in the Judaism they study and explore. Therefore, as “people of the book,” we are delighted to allow our children access to our beautiful library.

Sweet Treats

At the end of a successful day, there should always be a sweet reward. Here at our religious school, that certainly is the case! Bruster’s Real Ice Cream provided a wonderful ice cream social for our students to enjoy after their studies.

Interested

Do you have a Jewish student in grades K-7 whom you think could benefit from our religious school? Registration is still ongoing; contact Rabbi Hodson at rabbijhodson@bethsholomlv.org to learn more !

YOUTH

USY and Kadima youth department started off the school year right!

On the first day of public school, students from all over the district came together for our annual Back To School Ice Cream Social. This took place at Bruster's Real Ice Cream (2862 S Durango). As you can see by the smiles in the attached photos, these 4 - 12 graders had a great time catching up with old friends and meeting new ones, all while getting awesome goodie bags and enjoying yummy free ice cream.

We are always accepting new members into our youth department for Jewish students in grades 4 – 12. Both temple members and non-members are welcome.

We have a fun year planned with thrilling activities, such as Shabbat dinners, an upcoming trip to Knott's Berry Farm, and so much more!

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

By Judy Forman | Women's League President

Shanah Tovah! With the summer months of July and August coming to a close, TBS Women's League (WLTBS) is gearing up with several events planned. We have been busy planning in-person and backup events. Our first event on Sunday, September 11 at 10:30 am will be an Apples & Honey sampling. We will learn about different varieties of apples & honey while enjoying the flavors that bring in a sweet New Year. If you are a female and a member of TBS, please consider joining us.

Programs that are being planned include:

- Oct 11 – Sukkot Event – Wine & Cheese Presentation
- Nov 6 – Paid up Membership
- Dec – Open House at the gift shop
- January – Pajama Party

Additional programs include Genealogy, Girls Nite Out, Circle of Prayer, and Challah Baking

Women's League has been asked to provide VOLUNTEERS to usher for the High Holidays. Please click on this link to volunteer: <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/30E094EA5AC28A0FA7-20225783>.

If you are ready to hang out with a fabulous group of women and are looking for opportunities to socialize; Women's League is here for you. Please consider joining us at special events and/or special interest groups (SIGs).

All of our events will be shared via e-mail, the Vision, TBS Bulletin or call Judy Forman at (702) 540-5538.

May you have a good and healthy sweet New Year, Rosh Hashanah/ 5783

LILY TEVET OCTOBER 22ND, 2022

Lily Sophia Tevet will be called to the Torah on October 22, 2022 at Temple Beth Sholom. Lily is the daughter of Melissa Tevet and Natan Tevet, Z"L, and the granddaughter of Allan and Edith Bloomberg. She has an older sister, Julia and a younger sister, Amelia. Lily is an 8th grader at Fertitta Middle School.

Lily enjoys playing the violin, rock climbing, ballroom dancing, spending time with her family and friends and traveling. She wants to travel around the world when she is older. Lily is fortunate to have her grandparents, aunt, uncle and cousins living in Las Vegas and she loves to have big family dinners and get-togethers.

Lily is very active in USY and she is looking forward to attending regional events this year. Lily loves dogs, especially her own two fur babies, Apollo and Daisy. For her Mitzvah Project, Lily would like to collect dog toys for dog rescue shelters.

EZRA BLUM OCTOBER 29TH, 2022

Ezra is an 8th grader at Amplus Academy. Although he doesn't love going to school, he is a diligent and an excellent student while balancing a busy schedule. Ezra plays trombone in his school's symphonic and jazz bands. He is a competitive swimmer attending more than six hours of practices per week and showing great improvement in each meet in which he competes. He loves riding his bike, hanging out with his friends and, most of all, eating!

Lately, Ezra has shown an interest in learning to cook some of his favorite dishes. He has really enjoyed this time in the kitchen, while his parents usually spend their time in the kitchen cleaning up his messes! Ezra is also a loving older brother to his sister, Shira. Ezra enjoys walking and playing fetch with his dog, Kelev.

Ezra has embraced his Jewish learning over the past two years, learning about the rich history of his family and people. This is only the beginning. For his Mitzvah Project, Ezra is supporting and raising funds for Bikes for Kids Foundation. It is an amazing organization that provides new bicycles and helmets to underserved second and third grade children, combined with character building education.
